Letter from Frederick City, Md.

FREDERICK CITY, MARYLAND, June 10, 1869.

DEAR LINDSAY:—As we have been travelling for a couple of days, over ground that is historic, perhaps a line by the way might be interesting, and therefore we embrace an opportunity to jot down a few facts. We left home at 8.35 Tuesday morning last, and by 5.25 of the same day were in Hagerstown, Maryland; having in the meantime had a spare hour at noon to stroll along the banks of the Susquehanna at Harrisburg, and enjoy the beauty, elegance and sweetness of that frontstreet in that city, a street that enjoys the finest sites for private residences we have ever seen. A grassy bank, high enough to be secure from the highest water, lined with regular rows of choice trees, supports your mansion; spread out before you for a mile or more in front, and for many miles to right and left, is the sparkling waters of the noble Susquehanna, the "Pride of Pennsylvania;" a river always grand, whether it be when the mountain torrents come down like wild things of life, and fill its banks with a restless and surging flood, until it looks like a vast seething ocean; or, as it calmly and peacefully flows along to its ocean home, cooling the summer breezes that stoop to kiss its glassy surface. On this street is the Executive Mansion now occupied by Gov. Geary, the residence of Senator Cameron and of many other fortunate ones who have been happy enough to secure a "lovely situation."

From Harrisburg to Hagerstown, through the rich and productive Cumberland Valley is a pleasant ride of seventy-eight miles. Arrived at Hagerstown we were fortunate enough to meet our esteemed friend Rev. J. Spangler Keifer, who not long since ministered in the German Reformed Church of Huntingdon, and by his kindness were soon made acquainted with the sights and scenes of that old town. We visited the Church building in which Rev. K. preaches, and were much surprised at its appearance. The words and figures ano 1774 cut in the vane, suggests the fact that the building was erected two years before our country's natal day. Last year it was repaired, and remodeled by increasing its length, and it now presents a very fine appearance. It is larger than any of the churches of our town; the ceiling is planed chestnut strips supported by massive arches of unvarnished walnut; the windows are high and narrow, and having stained glass, the unbearable glare, with which so many of our churches are afflicted, is destroyed, and instead, a soft mellow light pervades the chamber, and a person is not so likely to be tormented with that awful and undesirable inclination to sleep, that so often steals upon the senses of the most wakeful. The seats are walnut, cushioned, and made for ease and comfort, not as penance stools; the pulpit is large and commodious, perhaps ten by fifteen feet, whilst the pedestal that supports the Bible is quite narrow. A large pipe organ accompanies the voices in the melody of praise with its sweet sounding tones. Taking all together, there is an air of neatness and attractiveness about the church that is striking, and I describe it so particularly because of its age, and that in our section we are far behind in the proper completion of church edifices. Rev. Keifer has a large congregation, but all who know him, rest assured that he is equal to his duties and situation.

After spending the night at Hagerstown, we on Wednesday morning about nine o'clock, took a carriage and were driven over a road that is not excelled the world over. Solid limestone pike so smooth that in a days drive not a stone is struck, or a jolt felt. Several miles out, the evidences of the Antietam battle begin to show themselves, in the shape of bullet holes through the fence rails, and when out ten miles the little Dunker Church is reached. Around it nearly seven years ago the fierce struggle of battle raged with terrible fury; about its hallowed walls the dead and dying were piled like vast earthworks of defence. The wails of the wounded, the deep groans of despair, the wild cry of command, the glad shout of victory, mingled with the subtle whistle of the minie ball, the screaming of the shell, and the thunderings from the cannons' mouth, would have made strange discord with the sounds of prayer and praise that was wont to be there heard. To the church, and back again over the cornfield, through that long hot day, over and over again advanced and receded the centers of the two contending hosts. The sun went down in sadness, and pitying night spread her sable mantle of mourning over the field, to stop the carnage. To-day all is silent: Silent as the heart throbs of the brave and noble ones who perished by thousands on that fearful field! silent as the stars that looked down upon the couch of the dying, and veiling their faces with noiseless clouds, wept tears of mourning and distress. The little church was literally shot to pieces during the battle, but having been since rebuilt, no marks are left upon it. The fields are again under cultivation, the fences again made, and all traces of the battle have disappeared, except where the large shot have buried themselves in the trunks of the trees, and even in them there is little more than a scar in the bark now visible. Thus in a few short years the traces of the conflict are effaced from the face of nature, but alas how many hearts yet mourn in silent sorrow for the loved one that came not home again after that battle.

A mile or two from the church is the village of Sharpsburg, and situated on the top of an adjoining hill high enough to give a commanding view of the surrounding country for miles, is the Antietam National Cemetery, where sleep many of the dead of the battle. It contains about ten acres, and is surrounded with a substantial capped stone wall, varying from eight to twelve feet in height, according to the irregularity of the ground, except in front where the wall is about three feet high, and surmounted by a very fine high iron fence, painted green. The entrance is by a stone archway, at the side of which is erected a stone house for the sexton. In the center of the grounds, and on the highest point, is raised a towering flag pole, with rope and tackle attached to raise and lower the flag. Under the ground large sewers or drains are built to carry off the water during rain; the walks are yet unfinished, and indeed much work is yet to be done, but as there are ten or twelve men working constantly it will soon be completed. There are over four thousand Union soldiers buried within the cemetery at present; the dead of each State are together. The space allotted to each grave is two by six and a half feet, and about fifty are buried in a section, that is, fifty are buried side by side, and the one long grave is covered with green sod, presenting a regular smooth appearance instead of the little hillocks to each grave, usually made in other cemeteries. The style of tombstone to be used has not yet been determined upon by those in authority, but suppose something neat, permanent and substantial will be selected. The Trustees have not yet decided as to the burying of the Confederate dead within the cemetery. It is under consideration with them, whether the southern portion shall be set apart for that purpose or not. Taking all together the cemetery is a beautiful and appropriate final resting place for those who so freely gave their all to their country. Here for ages hereafter their graves will be guarded and kept green by an appreciative government, and here, with each recurring year, as long in which Rev. K. preaches, and were as history continues to record deeds of courage and heroism, will gather the nation's gratitude to strew with floral wreaths the place,

Where sleep the brave who sank to rest
By all their country's wishes blest.

After leaving the cemetery we drove about a mile below Sharpsburg to see Burnside's Bridge, a point at which much desperate fighting was done. It is an arched stone bridge over Antietam Creek at the base of an abrupt, in fact almost precipitous hill, full a hundred yards high, held at the commencement of the battle by the rebels. Burnside's men had to advance down the slope of a long smooth hill and across a wide plateau, and over the narrow bridge under a raking fire from above and both sides. Over and over again the effort was made without success; and it was not until late in the day and after a succession of most desperate, determined and daring charges that the bridge was carried. From the bridge we drove back through Sharpsburg, took the road through Keedysville and Boonesborough and up and over the South Mountain. As we descend this side, we recognize the place where was fought the sharp and decisive battle of "South Mountain." The mountain in one place rises in a peak high above the rest. The battle commenced in the valley, but the rebels were forced, step by step, by desperate fighting up the mountain side; they choosing the high peak at which to cross, that the advantage of the ground might be theirs as long as possible. The shades of the Sabbath night gathered over the battle field, but the rattle of musketry continued long after, the aim being directed by the flash of the opponent's gun, and on that account an unusual number were shot in the head. At one place on top of the mountain, nearly a hundred rebels, who had used a stone fence as a protection, were found dead, nearly all of whose wounds were in the head; they were killed in the night battle, the flash of their own guns being the target that directed the aim of the guns that sent the swift messengers of death. At this battle the esteemed and gallant Reno fell, and on top of the mountain a monument has been erected to mark the spot where he made his last great sacrifice for his country.

Down South Mountain, across Pleasant Valley, through the village of Middletown, and up to the summit of Catoctin mountain is a splendid drive of several miles. Here from the summit of Catoctin is presented a landscape view, that alone is worth two days travel to see. The cultivated imagination would have to supply much that the pen could not express, to even approach to an understanding of the reality of the picture from a description. Spread out before you "fair as a garden of the Lord" for ten, twenty and thirty miles, stretching north, west and south, and presented to the view with astonishing distinctness, is Pleasant Valley. The yellow earth of the freshly ploughed cornfields, blends its color with the light green of the waving grain, and the darker shades of the fruit and forest trees, in a harmony so sweet to the human eye, that we are constrained to say that the artist who arranged those colors, who bordered the picture with the heavy shadows of the distant mountains, and spread over all the light crimson veil of dreamy haziness caused by the departing rays of the declining sun, truly is Divine. But we must hasten on, down from the mountain and out into the wide valley in which "The clustered spires of Frederick stand, Green walled by the hills of Maryland."

As we approach Frederick City the force of the phrase clustered spires in Whittier's popular poem Barbara Freichie is appreciated, for although the city is spread out wide and long, yet the twelve or fifteen spires in it are grouped within two or three adjoining squares. By eight o'clock we are in the city, and over a good supper, discuss the pleasure and satisfaction of to-day's thirty mile drive, congratulating ourselves that we chose a carriage, rather than dingy dusty cars, in which to come over from Hagerstown to Frederick.

Hoping you will pardon me for having run this letter out to such great length, I will refrain from writing more.

Remaining yours,
JUNTO 2ND.

How Beecher Makes his Sermons.

Ralph Meeker contributed to a late number of Packard's Monthly, an interesting account of "How Henry Ward Beecher makes his sermons:"

When he first commenced to preach he wrote out a few of his sermons, until he had enough other writing to correct his style. Since then he has never written out a discourse in full. He has an idea all the week as to what subject he will treat on Sunday. Still, there is no definite plan until the time arrives.

Usually, he does not touch pen to paper before Sunday morning and Sunday afternoon. Then he sometimes gets so many sermons under way that the one he intends to prepare is neglected until the first bell rings, whereupon he throws aside the incomplete work, and, blocking out a discourse, he hastens to the pulpit. Generally, he writes what would make a quarter of a sermon, embracing the leading points to be presented. In preparing a sermon he first "blocks it out," and lays the foundation with a part of the framework. At the proper places he cuts windows, through which the audience may see the beauties of the Gospel. The windows are designated by the letters "Ill." inclosed in a line thus (Ill.) showing that an illustration is to come in at that particular point. None of the illustrations are ever written out beforehand or with the sermon, but they are given as they occur at the time when they are needed.

He always has a variety of new sermons on hand, to be used on special occasions. He said that in old times the housewife kept a batch of dough in the pantry, and when bread was required, all she had to do was to go to the tray and cut off enough for baking. So it is with his sermons. He never preaches the same one twice, though he frequently uses the same text, but it is always in a different manner.

In reply to the question as to whether he selected his text first, or the subject, applying such a text as would suit, he said that a text may be compared to a gate opening into the Lord's Garden; many ministers, instead of unlatching the gate and leading their hearers in to pluck the fruit and flowers, content themselves by getting upon and swinging to and fro.

He always makes it a point to preach his best sermons on stormy days, for then those who are in attendance say to their friends, "You don't know how much you missed by not being present, though it was a stormy day." He well remembered the time when, on nearly every Sabbath during the winter, it snowed or rained, "for it came near killing me," said he laughingly.

Some one inquired if he should his prayers. "Never," said he; "I carry a feeling with me such as a mother would have for her children were they lost in a great forest. I feel that on every side my people are in danger, and that many of them are like babes, weak and helpless. My heart goes out in sorrow and in anxiety toward them, and at times I seem to carry all their burdens. I find that when one's heart is wrapped and twined around the hearts of others it is not difficult to pray."

Another wanted to know if it would not be better for Mr. Beecher to travel about the country, that the people of various sections might be benefited by his preaching. "No," said he; "what would a stove in the Arctic regions be good for if it were carried from place to place? Beside, more people come to hear me than I could reach should I go after them. It is far better for the United States to go through my church than for me to go through the United States."

ANTIDOTE FOR ALL POISONS.—A plain farmer says: "It is now over twenty years since I learned that sweet oil would cure the bite of a rattlesnake, not knowing it would cure other kinds of poison of any kind, both on man and beast. I think no farmer should be without a bottle of it in his house. The patient must take a spoonful of it internally, and bathe the wound for a cure. To cure a horse it requires eight times as much as it does for a man.—Here let me say of one of the most extreme cases of snake bites in this neighborhood: Eleven years ago this summer, where the case had been of thirty days' standing, and the patient had been given up by his physicians, I heard of it, carried the oil and gave him one spoonful, which effected a cure. It is an antidote for arsenic and strychnine. It will cure bloat in cattle by eating too freely of fresh clover; it will cure the sting of bees, spiders, or other insects; and will cure persons who have been poisoned by a low, running vine, growing in the meadows, called ivy."

When is a man like a horse?—When he's broke up.

Ministerial Labors.

There are some who suppose that Christian ministers have nothing to do except to preach on the Sabbath. The rest of their time is free, and during the week they are nothing more than genteel idlers. Many a time have we known people to be surprised at the idea of their pastor having any work to do. To such minds, work is nothing unless the coat is off and the muscles moving. Of brain-work they have but a slight conception. If the minister can preach on Sunday, they regard it not as any result of labor on his part, but as some special gift by which he can open his mouth and interest the people. They have no idea of any previous labor connected with it.—What the minister does with himself during the rest of the week they do not know and cannot imagine.

Candor compels us to admit that some of our ministerial brethren are, to a certain extent, responsible for the prevalence of this erroneous impression. If they are known to spend a good portion of their time in gossiping visitations, in talking politics at the corners or by the roadside, in miscellaneous converse at the village store, in frequent hunting and fishing excursions, no wonder if the idea becomes prevalent that the minister has nothing to do. And no wonder if such a ministry becomes utterly barren of all gracious results.

The duties of the ministry when properly discharged are arduous. Sermons are to be prepared for the Sabbath. If a man be simple enough to depend on the inspiration of the moment, he will not be long in finding that such inspiration will fail him.—We grant that all previous preparation is useless without the Holy Spirit; but the best way reasonably to look for the assistance of the Spirit is to have a thorough previous preparation by study and prayer. Then the flock is to be visited, the sick are to be cared for, the strangers are to be sought out, the interest of the children are to be looked after, the young disciples are to be trained, the lukewarm are to be aroused, the faint-hearted to be encouraged, the penitent to be pointed to Christ, the dead buried, and the bereaved commended to God. Sometimes, in addition to the ordinary preaching, there will be special sermons and addresses to be prepared and delivered. A general supervision of all the interests of the Church is to be kept up, including a variety of incidental work not easily stated with definiteness, but concerning which every pastor of experience has some knowledge. No thoughtful person surely will say that the minister who faithfully does his duty has nothing to do.

But, after admitting all this, it has occurred to us that there is among ministers themselves a tendency to go to the opposite extreme in speaking of their labors; a tendency, we mean, to magnify the actual and admitted arduousness of ministerial toil, so that sometimes a great deal of nonsense is uttered about "hard work." The impression seems to exist among some preachers that their profession monopolizes the hard work of the world.—Why not be a little charitable, brethren, and admit that there may be very hard toil among other professions?—Shall we be considered unjust if we assert that the greatest complaint of "hard work" does not come from the hardest workers? These have no time for complaint. They put on the harness, and work away to the extent of their ability, thanking God for the privilege; while some who do not work enough to get accustomed to the harness complain of the "toils and trials of the ministry!" It is our deliberate opinion, charitably formed we hope, that a good many of our ministers would complain less if they labored more. They wear the yoke just enough to chafe themselves, but not enough to develop all the working power that is in them. Some men find that the more they do, the more they can do. They are surprised at the discovery, but there is sound philosophy at the bottom of it.

Other men as well as ministers have labors and cares. Physicians in large practice have a hard life; so do lawyers who are blessed with a multiplicity of cases; and the judges who are obliged to listen to their pleadings, and make decisions or deliver charges.—Teachers work hard in their important calling; so do authors, and all who make a profession of literature. Some of the hardest worked men of the age are the managers of our great journals. With regular routine the earth revolves, and with equal regularity must the daily paper make its appearance. The inexorable public makes no allowance for weariness, sickness, bereavement, or even death itself.

While admitting, then, that the position of the Christian minister is one involving real labor as well as high responsibility, we think it but just to recognize the fact that there are other brain-workers in the world. We make no comparisons, and do not pretend to decide which profession works the hardest; nor is it necessary for us to do so. Let every man in every calling work just as hard as he can. This world needs all the work that can be put upon it for a good many generations to come, and ministers should do their share toward winning the world for God. Some of them doubtless do die from excessive labor; but so long as we hear so much complaining of dyspepsia among the clergy, we shall feel impelled to believe that more ministers die of overfeeding than of overworking.—The Methodist.

It was the saying of a heathen that he who would do good must either have a faithful friend to instruct him, or a watchful enemy to correct him.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR:

JOHN W. GEARY,

OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

FOR JUDGE SUPREME COURT:

HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

Republican County Convention.

A Convention of the Union Republicans of Huntingdon county, will be held at the Court House in the borough of Huntingdon, on TUESDAY, AUGUST 10TH, 1869, at 1 o'clock, p m.

This Convention will be composed of two delegates from each township, borough, ward and district.

The Republican voters of the county are requested to meet at their respective places of holding elections (except the West Ward of the Borough of Huntingdon, who will hold their election at the store room of N. C. Decker lately occupied by Johnston & Watt-son,) on Saturday, the 7th day of August—in the townships, between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock, p. m., and in the Boroughs between the hours of 6 and 9 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to this Convention.

You are also requested to vote by ballot at the same time for or against the adoption of the Crawford County System, and instruct your delegates accordingly.

H. C. WEAVER,
Chairman County Committee.

The Globe, New Volume.

With this number, THE GLOBE enters its Twenty-fifth year, and having attained a quarter of a century, it feels like pluming its feathers and speaking a word or two for itself. We seldom boast, but at such an epoch as this we deem it allowable on the part of the public to "hear us for our cause."

Twenty-five years ago THE GLOBE was a diminutive sheet, possessing no more charms than other journals which have started on the sea of newspaperdom to seek a name and a fame; but at that time we thought Huntingdon county needed us, and we looked to the community to appreciate that need by giving us a liberal support. The first two years to us were full of disappointment, financially considered; but we were not to be daunted, and taking up the motto of our paper we determined to "Persevere." The public saw our spirit, and came to our support, and we remember with gratitude those who, though politically opposed to us, rendered us the assistance which gave THE GLOBE a foothold. Many of our old advocates and patrons have passed off this mortal stage, but the paper remains a monument to their liberality, and we trust it may continue to exist long after we have bade farewell to earthly things.

We do not design to enumerate the bright and dark phases of our existence in those twenty-four years just passed. They are still fresh in our memory, and are perhaps well known to our friends who have watched our course in the political and national excitements through which we have recently gone. Suffice it to say that we return heartfelt thanks to those who stood by us, through thick and thin, and assure them that their services will not be forgotten.

Of the future we can only speak in hopeful anticipation. We are entering another campaign, and as we have entered it with pledging our support to the regularly nominated Republican candidate for Governor, John W. Geary, so we intend to persevere. The newspaper during such campaigns has been found to be indispensable, and if our friends in the county will take our past efforts as a guarantee of our course in the approaching election, then we call upon them to give us their support. We know that at times we have erred, but as no human being is infallible, still less can it be expected to find an editor who never erred. We leave our friends to determine for themselves whether our endeavors in the last campaign were productive of good results, and if they were to show proper appreciation of those endeavors. We have a fierce battle to wage, and many errors to combat, and it will require a steady advance and a bold front to meet the enemy. Arm yourselves with argument, and prepare for the struggle.

THE GLOBE is not yet what we design to make it. We have in contemplation some important improvements, but without the necessary aid and co-operation we can not accomplish what we desire. Let our friends remember us, and we will be encouraged in all our undertakings.

☞ The Soldiers' Monument in the National Cemetery at Gettysburg was dedicated on the 1st inst., according to the previously arranged programme. A great number of people from the places round about were present, and many distinguished officers and civilians. The features of the exercises of the day were the prayer by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, address of General Meade, oration of Senator Morton, of Indiana, and poem by Bayard Taylor.

The Democratic Convention.

The State Democratic Convention meets in Harrisburg to-day, to place in nomination a candidate for Governor and also a candidate for Supreme Judge. The deliberations of that body will be watched with interest by the people throughout the whole Commonwealth. To express an honest opinion, we do not believe that either harmony or good feeling will prevail. The deliberations are threatened with discord and bad feeling. Two, we may say three, prominent candidates are in the field, viz: Asa Packer, George W. Cass and Gen. Winfield S. Hancock. We include Gen. Hancock, because it is understood that he has intimated in a letter to a friend in this State, that he might be induced to resign his commission in the army and accept the Democratic nomination for Governor, should it be tendered him." If such is the fact, Hancock will be nominated without doubt, but we can hardly believe that he is foolish enough to throw away a Major General's Commission in the Regular Army for an empty honor. If he should do so, it is with the view of bettering his chances for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1872. Leaving Hancock out of the question, the contest will lay between Cass and Packer, and we are promised that it will be a desperate and bitter fight. The Cass men will demand his nomination, and will fight for it. They say he must be nominated. Bill McMullen and his roughs will be in Harrisburg in force, and will demand, with their usual knock-down arguments, the nomination of Asa Packer. They say also, that Packer must be nominated. In the melee, some new man, possibly Gen. McCandless, may step in and carry off the empty honor. We shall watch with interest in common with all Republicans the action of the Convention.

☞ A cotemporary so elegantly portrays the situation of the Democratic party of to day, that we beg pardon (of the Democracy, we mean) for adopting his words, when he says that a "good deal has been lately said in the newspapers of the death of an old lady in Maine, who for thirty-six years has been bed ridden. While our sympathies are fully aroused for this unfortunate woman, we cannot help thinking of the harder fate of the "Democratic Party" (so called). It is true that this shattered organization has not been bed-ridden; if it could have gone comfortably to bed and stayed there, receiving rations of physic and gruel from sympathetic neighbors its fate would have been softer. But even now, when it is really in extremity, it is forced to get up and dress itself in various disguises, and hold State Conventions, as lately in Vermont, under the most discouraging circumstances. Although for so many years it has not had a particle of influence upon the public policy, it has felt it a duty to go through the motions as if it really altered something. We wish that, once for all, it would go to bed and stay there. We calculate, since the beginning of the Rebellion, in its various County, District, State and National Conventions, that this feeble old party has passed from forty to fifty thousand Resolutions, the whole amounting to one elongated and continuous growl and grumble. The eccentric Dr. Valentine used to personate an old gentleman who at the same time was tormented by headache, earache, toothache, pulmonary consumption, lumbago, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver complaint, and indigestion—a very useless old gentleman, but a master, nevertheless, of the sublime art of scolding. The Democratic party in Convention assembled always reminds us of this amiable personage. Ah! if it only would go to bed!"

☞ It is absurd to be talking of the failure of Grant's Administration, and we have no patience with the persons and papers and Ex-Presidents who do so. Better wait until the evidence is in before venturing on a verdict. The Administration has had no opportunity for developing grand measures or great men thus far. The evidences of success, thus far, are that the debt has been considerably decreased, the peace with all nations preserved, the Indian question made half intelligible and the Neutrality laws enforced. Some of the politicians are dissatisfied—another evidence of success. As Grant said just before the inauguration, "I recognizs—and no one with more unswerving faith—that a party can really be successful only by the success of the Government it administers; and that the party that rules the country wisely and well for the next four years will certainly rule it for many years to come." Let us wait for the verdict.

☞ The two clauses in the new Constitution of Virginia, so overwhelmingly voted down, were those relating to disfranchisement and the test oath—so far as we can see—the only difference between the Wells and Walker parties, and as it concerned only the rebels, of course they supported Walker, because he was in favor of restoring the right of rebels to vote and hold office. The same may be said of the bitter contest now being waged in Tennessee, between Senter and Stokes.

☞ The Rev. James W. Hunnicut, of Richmond, was supported as the candidate for Congress by the conservatives (or Walker party) in the Third District, and was defeated.

The Virginia Election.

The Virginia election on Tuesday of last week, was conducted throughout the State in a quiet and orderly manner. But few complaints are made, of violence or intimidation. The vote was very full, and the Conservative (or Walker party) carried the State, electing their entire State ticket by a majority of 20,000 to 40,000. The Walker party also elected a majority of the Representatives in Congress. Both branches of the Legislature are largely composed of Walker men, thus securing to them two United States Senators. Several colored men who favored the Walker ticket have been elected to the Legislature, and the large majority which that ticket has received, it is admitted, is due to the fact, that the negroes voted it very generally in many of the country districts. The Constitution was carried by an overwhelming vote. The clauses which extensively disfranchised those who were prominent Rebels and excluded them from office, having been by President Grant submitted separately, were voted down overwhelmingly. All who were Rebels, or sympathized with the Rebellion, with very few exceptions, went for Walker, with about half the Whites who stood by the Union.

The following are the State officers and Congressmen elect:

Governor—Gilbert C. Walker; Lieutenant Governor—John F. Lewis; Attorney General—James C. Taylor.

Congressmen.—1st. District, D. M. Norton, (Independent Rep.), colored; 2d. James H. Platt, jr., (Wells); 3d. Charles H. Porter (Wells); 4th. Levi C. Thayer (Walker) or George Tucker (Independent); 5th. Robert Ridgway (Walker); 6th. Wm. Milne (Walker); 7th. Wm. McKenzie (Walker); 8th. James K. Gibson (Walker); At Large Joseph E. Segar (Walker).

The New York Tribune says of the successful candidates:

Gilbert C. Walker, the Governor elect is a native of Binghamton in this State, though we believe he has since resided in Chicago. He has been for some years in business at Norfolk, Va., where he is much respected. He is called a Republican, but we know nothing of his political antecedents, except that he was always for the Union.

John F. Lewis, chosen Lieutenant Governor, is an old time Whig, though a life long resident of Rockingham County, which always gave horrible Democratic majorities. He was chosen therefrom as a Unionist to the Convention of 1861, and voted to the last against Secession. He is an able and worthy man, and gave great strength to the ticket.

Joseph E. Segar, chosen at large to Congress, is a native Virginian; an Eastern Shore Whig, now advanced in life, and a Unionist throughout. He was a delegate to the State Legislature nearly thirty years ago and repeatedly re-elected.

Of the Members of Congress elected on the Walker ticket, we recognize Lewis Mackenzie as a Whig of other days, a Republican since 1860 and a Unionist always. We believe they all, or nearly all, profess friendship to Gen. Grant's Administration.

This result will prove good or ill, as the victors shall decide. There are too many among them who have experienced much yet learned little since 1860. If these should gain control of the State administration, they will soon run it ashore. Much will depend on the wisdom and tact of Gov. Walker, who is a new man in politics. We hope he may evince discretion, and may be able to impart it to his allies. His position is one of great difficulty, and will thoroughly tax and test his ability and his patience.

☞ The State Democratic Convention of Ohio, met at Columbus on the 7th inst., and on the second ballot nominated Gen. W. S. Rosencrans for Governor. Gen. Rosecrans was appointed minister to Mexico by President Johnson, and is now on his way home, having been relieved of ministerial duties by President Grant.

A contemporary says of the platform adopted by the Convention, "on which Messrs. Vallandigham and Mr. Pendleton are to meet Gen. Rosecrans and embrace him, is made up in about equal proportions of resolutions denouncing the Government for extravagance in paying honest debts, and defending their own Legislature for extravagance in creating new ones of doubtful honesty. Beyond this we do not observe anything of the slightest consequence, save the cheerful assurance that the reserved rights of the States are gone to the dogs with the defeat of Secession, and that the Government is to be a consolidated despotism."

The Registry Law Constitutional.

Our readers will remember that a couple of weeks ago we announced that Judge Sharswood at nisi prius had declared the new Registry Law unconstitutional. In banc, on the 7th inst, Judge Agnew delivered an opinion, in which he is sustained by Judges Read and Williams, that the Registry Law is constitutional. It is unnecessary to state that Judges Thompson and Sharswood dissent.

GOV. GEARY.—The New York Herald says that Gov. Geary "is the strongest man the Republicans have. He carried the State on a full vote in 1866 by 20,000 majority. The Democrats will have to put up a popular man of progressive ideas, a man who believes that there has been a deluge, and that the Democratic ideas of 1860 are dead issues, or they will be beaten again. The days of copperheadism came to an end last November." The Herald ought to be pretty good authority in the Democratic camp.

FRANK BLAIR AGAIN.—It will be remembered that Frank Blair was the Democratic candidate for Vice President. It is the same Frank Blair that was at Long Branch last Thursday evening, and attended the annual banquet of the officers of the Army and the Navy. He was there called on to make a speech. He did so, and the following circumstance occurred. He said:

I will speak of the people who were once our enemies, and I know that when I speak of them before soldiers I speak before those who will heartily respond. Those against whom we contended, whom we aspersed as Rebels, and whom we triumphed over as well. They were great and generous people, they were worthy of the steel of our best. We have heard here of Farragut and of Sheridan, but we shall yet hear of Lee and Stonewall Jackson. [Hisses and cries and great confusion.] Who is it dissents? [Number of voices—"We dissent." "I dissent," "Think of Andersonville and Libby Prison."] It would be little merit for us to have triumphed over a mean enemy. [The speaker was again interrupted by a storm of hisses.] I speak of them as our late adversaries. [Cries of "Traitors."] Are there no voices to be raised for them? [Cries of "Yes" and "No," great confusion, and cries of "Traitor."]

Admiral Farragut here decided that to introduce anything which interrupted the harmony was out of order. And this is the man the Democrats would have had us to elect last year to fill the second office in the gift of the people—a man who still loves to speak of the heroism of leading rebels, and would teach us to forget their treason, and honor them as we have Farragut and Sheridan. We do not think that the mass of the Democratic party will approve of such a sentiment, but what is to prevent them in the future from seeing such men elevated as their standard bearers. How truly it is that if the Democratic party would attain the ascendency that they will give the rebels all they ask for.

☞ The Senate of the Fenian Brotherhood in session in Pittsburg, on the 1st inst., issued an address to the American people, in which they ask their sympathy and assistance on the ground that fifteen millions of Americans have Irish blood in their veins, and that Ireland has been a national ally of America from the time of the Revolution to the present day; while England has been a persistent enemy of this Republic, as is shown by her hostile action during the late rebellion. They declare the Irish people ready to unite with America; that such a union, backed by a brave and devoted people, would give the United States the control of the commerce of Europe. They ask for the co-operation of every true American, without distinction of party, as they declare the cause in which they are engaged too sacred to be made a battle-ground of contending factions.

☞ The Democrats take a large grain of comfort from the recent election in Virginia, where the Conservative candidate for Governor, Mr. Walker, was elected by a large majority. We give them all the gratification they claim very willingly. But who don't know Virginia? Who could expect anything else than a Democratic majority in that State? We would just as soon expect to hear of a Republican triumph in Berks county, as to hear of a Republican victory in Virginia. Take your glory now, gentlemen, for in the days that are to come you will not.

☞ Successful experiments have been made in San Francisco with a working model of an aerial navigation machine. It not only ascended into the air but was propelled in any required direction by the machinery, and it has the capacity for carrying eight or ten persons, being constructed for the purpose of making trips to New York. The inventor is confident that the trip can be made in twenty-four hours.

☞ The great reduction of the public debt since the accession of General Grant to the Presidency does not meet with much favor from the Democracy. Their journals are silent as the grave concerning it. Why not show a spark of manliness and acknowledge the success of the Administration in that particular? A little honesty once in a while might not hurt them.

☞ The new prohibitory law of Massachusetts went into operation on July 1st. Its provisions are exceedingly stringent and its operations will be watched with great interest by the people of other states, where the subject of prohibitory laws is agitated. The result of the operations of this law will be important as regards the enactment of similar laws in other states.

☞ Gen. Grant expressed to a friend the other day, that he felt that Gen. Geary would carry Pennsylvania by a larger majority than before, that Governor Geary was a soldier and states-man, and that the Keystone State never had a Governor that was more true and faithful to her best interests.

☞ Hon. Henry W. Williams, nominated for Supreme Judge by the Republican State Convention, has written a letter to the Committee appointed to notify him of his nomination, signifying his acceptance of the same.

☞ The Legislature of New Hampshire has passed a bill allowing nine per cent. or any less rate of interest, by special contract. The bill is to go to the voters for approval or disapproval at the next election.

The friends of JOHN N. SWOOPE, of Porter township, announce him as a candidate for Assembly, subject to the approval of the Union Republican County Convention. June30, '69.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Huntingdon county, subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention. If elected, I will discharge the duties of the office with fidelity and to the best of my ability. I was born in Huntingdon county, and the first vote I ever polled was for William Henry Harrison, in 1840. In August 1862, when all was gloomy and dark and our country and union in danger, I volunteered my services in Co. I. 125th Regim-ent, not for large bounty or big pay, but for the good of my country. On the 17th September, 1862, while engaged, was wounded in the arm, rendering it almost useless.

BAUGH'S
RAW BONE
SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.
STANDARD WARRANTED.

We offer to Farmers, the present fall season, BAUGH'S RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME as being highly improved.

Baugh's raw Bone Super Phosphate is, as its name indicates, prepared by dissolving raw Bones in Oil of Vitriol—that is, bones that have not been deprived of their organic matter—the grease and glue—by burning or boiling. It, therefore, presents to the use of the farmer all the valuable properties of Raw Bones in a highly concentrated form—rendering it at once quick in action and very permanent.

☞ Farmers are recommended to purchase of the dealer located in their neighborhood. In sections where no dealer is yet established, the PHOSPHATE may be procured directly from the undersigned.

CELEBRATED

PERFECTED SPECTACLES AND EYE GLASSES.

The large and increasing sales of these

SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their usefulness. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight; and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were to themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our CELEBRATED PERFECTED SPECTACLES by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aid ever manufactured. To the wearing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

A one armed soldier perambulated our streets on Thursday last with a hand-organ, and was well paid for his music.

S. T. Brown's three-story brick is under roof. It is the largest dwelling house in town.

The excitement of the national holiday being over, our people have resumed the even tenor of their way. So have we.

Wilson Henry, a mail agent on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, while in a fit of insanity, shot himself through the heart.

A lad named Benjamin Young was placed under arrest for attempting to fire the Winebrenarian church in Altoona.

Thomas Clark, of this place, who was run over by the cars some time ago, is rapidly recovering. He will not lose a limb.

A game of base ball was played here on the 5th between a colored club of Hollidaysburg and the colored club of this place. The latter were beaten four.

Rev. J. W. Plannett delivered the sermon in the open air on last Sabbath afternoon.—One peculiarity of this kind of service is that it reaches those who seldom attend church.

A number of members of Juniata Lodge, I. O. O. F., went to the celebration at Broad Top City. Everything was passed over pleasantly, except the switchbacks.

Our young friend John A. Willoughby is in town looking hearty. He left us this morning for the West. We are pleased to hear of his prosperity.

Our citizens were not the only ones that were "sold" on the Fifth. The citizens of Harrisburg lost their patience in looking for a balloon ascension which didn't come off.

The Altoona Vindicator is to get the benefit of a pic-nic on the 16th and 17th insts.—We wish his brightest anticipations of a "fat take" may be realized, but hope he will honor his own suggestion and not keep late hours.

The filthy custom of pasting one wall paper over another till a thickness of an eighth of an inch or more is accumulated is too common, and is attended with the worst consequences.

School No. 1, of this borough, taught by Mr. S. B. Taylor, enjoyed a pic-nic on Friday the 2d inst. A shower compelled them to take possession of the school-room. The scholars have our thanks for remembering us.

There were twenty casualties from fireworks in New York on the fifth, and ten in Brooklyn, and thirty fires in both cities.—Philadelphia had forty fires the same day.—The fires were not serious.

An excursion party from Lock Haven, Bellefonte and vicinity, numbering 190 ladies and gentlemen, went to Cresson on the 3d and stopped to visit the shops at Altoona on their return.

In this county there live three individuals calling themselves men, now camping out, who ate one bushel of potatoes in two days. Farmers need have no fears of finding a ready sale for that product this year.

The Crawford County System creates some dissatisfaction among Republicans in Somerset county. 600 Democrats and boys were allowed to assist in choosing the ticket to be supported by the party next fall.

A girl named Margaret Jane Flenner, of Richland township, Cambria county, while in a field where there were some horses, was kicked by one of them in the back of the neck and almost instantly killed.

Always make the best of everything. If you keep house make the best of bread and things; if out in the rain without an umbrella, make the best of time for a shelter, but don't get under a railroad car.

Badly Hoaxed—A small party that came from a station on the P. R. R., not one hundred miles away to see the Steam Fire Gingine. Come around and see our Phœnix and Juniata when up this way again.

A gentleman wants to know why our ice cream dealers charge fifteen cents a saucer, when the same quantity can be had in neighboring towns for ten cents. We suppose the reason is our people are accustomed to paying fifteen cents,

Last week a number of beardless youths started last week to seek their fortunes in the far West. Like the olden emigrant their motto is "Pike's peak or bust," but like him we trust they will not return exclaiming; "busted, by thunder!"

Emma Light, daughter of Rudolph Light of Julian Furnace, Huston township, Centre county, while stopping at a hotel in Pittsburg on her way west, last week, omitted to turn off the gas on retiring and was suffocated.

In an Iowa saw mill, recently, a visitor touched a swiftly revolving circular saw with the forefinger of his right hand, and it was cut off. In describing how the accident happened, the visitor reached out the left forefinger to the saw, when it too was cut off.

We commend the patriotic spirit which induced Mr. Jones, the publisher of the Tyrone Herald in issuing a red, white and blue number for the National holiday. We have seen many attempts at such enterprise, but the number of the Herald beats them all.

A couple of strangers recently entered a field belonging to John Shoemaker of Bedford county, and took therefrom thirty head of cattle belonging to George A. Smith. The thieves were overtaken about eight miles from Bedford and are now in jail.

The Grand Lodge officers of the I. O. O. F, are expected to visit our town on Saturday next. There will be a special meeting of Juniata Lodge, No. 117, in the evening, at which the officers will be present. The brothers of neighboring lodges are invited to attend.

Hon. John Scott, Hon. Daniel J. Morrell, and other distinguished gentlemen, are at present on a tour of inspection through Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. Their object is to examine the railroads of that portion of the Union and inquire into its mineral and other resources.

William Leob, an employee in the Penna. Railroad shops at Altoona, while oiling the hanging pully wheels, was caught by the machinery and whirled around, for one or two minutes, at the rate of one hundred and fifty revolutions to the minute. His feet and legs were shockingly mangled, from the effects of which he died.

The Fourth in Huntingdon.

We did not have a general celebration of the National Holiday in Huntingdon, notwithstanding the opportunity was given to observe the 3d or 5th, as inclination tended. The 3d was observed by the Catholic denomination in a grand picnic at the Cottage Grove, which was a success, and helped to give more prominence to the day than it would have had otherwise. The Fourth, Sunday, was observed as Sabbaths habitually are, by our citizens generally attending divine service.

Grand calculations were made however for Monday, the fifth. On that day our citizens expected to see the Altoona Steam Fire Company, who it was said were to give a grand parade and show their apparatus. But they didn't put in an appearance. The circumstances of this disappointment are as follows: On Tuesday previous to the Fourth, a letter was received from somebody in Altoona, representing that a majority of the Company, who had been kindly treated by our citizens during the war, as soldiers, desired to come to Huntingdon on the Fifth to "return their gratification," and all they wanted was an invitation. Our citizens were called upon and showed their willingness to entertain them. The letter of invitation was sent, but unfortunately the officers of the Company never received it; and what is more singular neither the officers nor the majority of the Company knew anything of an invitation having been sent until Friday afternoon, nor did they know anything of the proposed visit to Huntingdon, as represented in the letter. Of course it was too late then to make arrangements to come, and word was received that they would not be here. Our citizens were sold by the statements in the letter, and the grand parade was a grand hoax. The author of the letter was soon discovered and got his walking papers. We can assure our citizens however that the officers of the Company are reliable men, and felt the indignity and disappointment as much as did our citizens. They will cordially accept any timely invitation we send them in the future; and we hope the day is not far distant when we can give them a hearty welcome.

Being disappointed in a "Grand parade," a large party enjoyed a trip to the Warm Springs, while the Couldn't Get Away Club did what they could to celebrate the holiday at home.

Attempt at Burglary.

An attempt was made early on Thursday morning last to enter the hardware store of A. R. Stewart & Co., in this borough. The burglars first bored a hole in the back door large enough to admit an arm, but finding no key in the lock they found admission through the door was impossible. They next tried a window, and had succeeded in getting the shutters open and were about raising the window, when they were heard by Mr. Jas. A. Brown, who sleeps in the dwelling.—He lit a lamp, which the robbers saw, and ran. Mr. B. followed a man up to the coal wharf and arrested him, but on examination nothing was found to convict him. A leather sack, containing a new auger and some cake, was left by the robbers in the back yard. It is supposed they were from Altoona.

Fire.

The sand works of A. H. Bauman, near Mapleton, were completely destroyed by fire on Friday evening the 26th. Loss about $2500. There is no doubt the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Accidents.

A singular and serious accident befell two of our citizens, named George Conrad and William White, on Thursday morning last. They belong to the flonting gang in the service of the P. R R. Co., and were employed at the coal wharf above town. Shortly after going to work a rain came up and they with two other men took shelter under a car that was standing on the siding. While there the cars were suddenly backed by an engine that had come on the siding to avoid a passenger train. White and Conrad at that time were leaning against the axle and as the car moved they were both bent double, and were dragged some distance by the trucks, Mr. Conrad, we learn, having his head before the wheel was pushed along the track some twenty feet. The wheel did not run over him, but his ears were cut and mangled, and his hip was displaced. Mr. White suffers from his spine being badly lacerated. The other men escaped miraculously without a scratch. Drs. Brumbaugh and Miller are giving the sufferers every attention. By commendable skill they succeeded in a few minutes in replacing Mr. Conrad's hip, and it is thought both men will recover.

Gess, a son of Dr. A. B. Brumbaugh, was run over by a wagon on Monday, the 5th inst. The mules in the wagon knocked him down and the wheels run over both his legs, but fortunately the wagon was empty and all the injury he sustained was some bruises.

On the afternoon of the same day, Homer, a son of Mr. Jacob Africa, of this place, was knocked down and tramped on the head by a horse which had become unmanageable. He is recovering.

On Saturday the 3d, Mr. Isenberg, foreman in the new Furniture Factory had the little finger taken off and two other fingers on his right hand, badly mangled, by coming in contact with the circular saw, which was in operation.

Mr. Jacob Baker, a carpenter of Alexandria, fell from a ladder on the 29th ult., and broke his leg in three places. The ladder broke which caused the accident. Two other men, one named Mr. Dan'l. Keller, and Winfield, a son of Mr. Baker, fell from a scaffold at the same building, but neither were seriously hurt.

Mr. Isaac Lamp, a bricklayer of this place, while at work on the German Catholic church in Johnstown, fell from the scaffolding on the 3d inst., and was seriously injured.

JENNIE, a daughter of Mr. G. Miller, of this borough, aged 13 years, died suddenly on the 30th ult., from the effects of eating cherries together with the seeds.

☞"Where is Drake S. T. 1860 X?" We have heard this question asked many times, and for all we know for a year past he might be dead. Recently, in New York, we called at his Laboratory in Liberty St., and there found this gentleman barricaded behind a tremendous pile of boxes, distributing funds to a Sunday School Committee. Our business was to secure an advertisement. He said: "My dear sir, what is the use of advertising the Plantation Bitters? They sell better now than when I advertised at such enormous expense, and now I have not made a contract for a year. I have all this amount to give to the poor. To satisfy the Press, however we have always had my friends, I think I will give you a little something to do again, for I have improved the Bitters greatly, and it may be well to have you let the people know it." And so he ran on in a happy, cordial, appreciative manner, showing us the wonders of his place and the cords of certificates. Everything is on a magnificent scale, and is done with neatness and promptness. While there we saw at least forty orders come in for these celebrated Bitters. Cases were being shipped to the four corners of the world. Drake is not dead, nor his Bitters either.—Exchange paper.

STATE CONVENTION OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS.—Prof. J. P. Wickersham, Superintendent of Common Schools of Pennsylvania, has issued a call for a State Convention of School Superintendents, to meet in Harrisburg on Tuesday, July 20, at 2 o'clock, P. M; The object of the convention is the "transaction of business and the securing of as great efficiency as possible in the educational work to be done during the present term of the Superintendency." Various questions will be discussed, with a view to the fact that a new educational campaign is about to commence in this State, and success cannot be expected unless a good plan is devised and a resolution made to execute it vigorously. Return tickets will be issued by the railroad companies whose roads run to Harrisburg, and the hotels of the city will entertain delegates at reduced rates.

Other tales and sketches comprise the number before us. Terms, $1.50 a year. Specimen numbers, post-paid, six cents. Address, Horace B. Fuller, 14, Bromfield street, Boston.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The question of improvement is one that should be considered thoroughly, and as I have ventured to make some suggestions, in former numbers of your paper, I propose to continue throwing out hints until I can think of no more. I believe that the spirit of enterprise should be instilled into the rising generation in our town. We have looked long and patiently for the "good works" of the older citizens, but we have looked in vain. True, it is not too late for them to begin now, as the field is still open and large enough for every one of them to throw in their mite, and contribute to the prosperity of the town. But after all it is the young men who should possess the spirit of enterprise. We think ours are very deficient in that qualification. Few of them have ambition above swinging a graceful pen or making a good mechanical servant. They, to a pretty general extent, possess the spirit of their fathers, and would you broach some enterprise to them they would tell you "Oh it won't pay," with the same degree of assurance as their paternal instructors. We do not insinuate that our young men are not as good as other young men in their respective callings, but we verily believe that but few could be found who have in view the progress of their town in the arts and sciences, by the establishment of more mills, factories, academies, &c. We want to see the disposition of our young men in this respect improved now, so that it will increase with their growth. The young men of to-day should be the pioneers for the future, and if our town is to be any thing at all, we must look to them to make it. Let them not fear the venture. Enter the arena with the motto "There is no such word as fail." Keep the ball of enterprise continually in motion, and do not despair at one disappointment, but make it the incentive to something else in another direction. The bee in gathering honey goes from flower to flower, and so, young man, should you lay up for your temporal storehouse, never growing weary in doing good for yourself and others.

IMPROVEMENT.

SLADE GAP, July 1, 1869.

Dear Globe:—Everything is flourishing as usual in this place. The prospects of a good fruit crop are splendid and a grand old grain harvest, such as has not been for many a year, may be expected by our farmers in this "Lower End."

Our Academy closes her present session on the 14th inst. On the afternoon at 2 of said day Rev. J. N. Hays, of Chambersburg, will deliver the "Oratio Anniversaria" and in the eve at 7 P. M., will be a rare display of musical and oratorical talent by the students of Old Milnwood who have their annual exhibition on that eve.

"The Toodles," an excellent drama and a general favorite, will be played, and though we will not promise you it will be put upon the stage a la Arch street, we will promise to please you, should you drop any of your readers visit our little town upon that eve. When did any one attend an exhibition of Milnwood and go home dissatisfied or out of humor? Your correspondent can not remember the time.

The public Examination takes place on the 13th, Tuesday. QUIS.

Ladies Dresses and Boys Clothing.

MRS. B. ANNIE MCCABE and Miss MARY REEVES respectfully inform the public that they have removed to the house formerly occupied by H. McManigill, on Washington street, and are prepared to make Ladies' Dresses and Boys' Clothing of all kinds. They respectfully solicit a full share of patronage. apl,-tf.

A GOOD PLACE TO STOP.

The FRANKLIN HOTEL, in the Diamond, in this place, S. D. HEFFNER, Proprietor, is the place for travelers, business men and the people generally from town and country to stop. The best accomodations may always be expected. tf.

A $25 CHAMBER SETT AND FOUR 50 lb SACKS OF FLOUR.

Vote Early, Vote Late, Vote Often.

You don't have to pay for a vote at Enterprise Headquarters. You get the worth of your money in what you purchase. Enterprise Headquarters stands the expense of the presents—we only want the people to name by their votes who are to receive them. The Clergyman (or Clergyman's family,) receiving the highest number of votes will receive the $25 Chamber Sett—the four families receiving the highest number of votes will receive the four sacks of flour. The contest will not be confined to Huntingdon borough—every Clergyman (or Clergyman's family) in the county can be voted for. The voting of flour will also be to any family in the county.

FOY EVERY 25 CENTS WORTH PURCHASED YOU HAVE A VOTE.

The Chamber Sett of fourteen pieces is now on exhibition at Red Front—call and see it.

We want an interesting time and guarantee a fair election. The votes will be counted on the first of August.

On the 24th ult., by Rev. Wolf, Mr. JOHN D. KOCH, of Altoona, and Miss MARY WETCHER, of Petersburg, Huntingdon County.

DIED,

At the residence of her father, JENNIE E. youngest daughter of Graffus and I. V. Miller, aged 13 years and 2 months.

On the 8th of June, 1869, at Camp Harney, Oregon, of Consumption, B. GREENBERRY DORSEY, son of the late Dr. J. H. Dorsey, of this place, in the 36th year of his age.

June 29th, ELLA MAY, daughter of J. E. and S. O. Smucker, of this boro., aged 2 years and 11 days.

"Weep no more, mournful parents, weep no more,
For Ella May, your darling, is not dead,
Sunk though she be beneath the watery floor;
So sinks the day-star in the ocean bed,
And yet anon repairs his drooping head,
And tricks his beams, and with new-spangled ore
Flames in the forehead of the morning sky:
Thus Ella May sunk low, but mounted high
Through the dear might of Him who walked the waves;
Where, other graves, and other streams along,
With nectar pure her flowing locks she laves,
And hears the unexpressive nuptial song,
In the blest kingdoms meek of joy and love.
There entertain her all the saints above,
In solemn troops and sweet societies,
That sing, and, singing, in their glory move,
And wipe the tears forever from her eyes."

ORPHANS' COURT SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE,

In the Village of Mill Creek.

[ESTATE OF DR. W. H. KERR, DECEASED.]

By virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Huntingdon county, there will be exposed to public sale, on the premises, in the village of Mill Creek,

On Saturday, July 31st, 1869, at 2 o'clock, p.m., the following described real estate, to wit:

TWO ADJOINING LOTS OF GROUND,

Situated in the village of Mill Creek, county of Huntingdon, Pa., each lot fronting about 66 feet on the turnpike leading from Huntingdon to Lewistown, and extending back at right angles about 154 feet to a sixteen feet alley. The one lot has erected thereon

A GOOD FRAME DWELLING HOUSE,

Being 22 feet front by 40 feet back, a frame office for a physician, a good frame stable, with carriage house attached, and all other necessary outbuildings. Both lots are well fenced, and have a variety of fruit trees thereon. It is an excellent location for a physician.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-half of the purchase money to be paid on confirmation of the sale at August court, when the deed will be made, and the residue in two equal annual payments thereafter, with interest, to be secured by the judgments of the purchaser.

GEORGE KEBY, and
B. R. FOUST,
Admrs. of Dr. W. H. Kerr, dec'd.

BE CAREFUL WHAT MEDICINES YOU TAKE.

WHEN you are exhausted by over work of head or hand, and feel the need of something invigorating, don't drink whiskey nor any intoxicating thing, whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise. Such articles give just as much strength to your weary body and mind as the whip gives to the jaded horse, and no more. Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to Nerve-health, and are ALWAYS followed by DEPRESSING REACTION.

Dodd's Nervine & Invigorator

Is a TONIC and GENTLE STIMULANT which is NOT attended by REACTION. What it gains for you it maintains. When it refreshes body or mind, it refreshes with natural strength that comes to stay. We are not recommending tectotalism in the interest of any faction; but mending tectotalism and observation teaches us that he who resorts to the bottle for rest or recuperation, will find, as he keeps at it, that he is kindling a fire in his bosom which will consume like the flames of perdition. Turn from it. Take a tonic that will refresh and not destroy. Dodd's Nervine is for sale by all Druggists. Price One Dollar. See book of Certificates that accompanies each bottle. 4w

HUNTINGDON, PA.

A Wicked Prank.

A New Orleans paper is responsible for the following: Wednesday night, quite a fashionable wedding was celebrated in the fourth district. The bride was pretty, as all newly-married ladies are, and the groom was the glass of fashion and the mould of form. A number of invited guests lent grace and beauty to the occasion, and hearty congratulations testified the good wishes of many friends for the happiness of the newly-wedded pair. But the hours whirled rapidly, and the time for retiring came at last. The bride was led by laughing bridesmaids up to her chamber-door. But imagine their surprise when it was opened by a lady richly and elegantly clad in a traveling suit, and evidently waiting for an interview.

"I beg pardon, madam; but you appear astonished," said the strange lady.

"I must confess I did not expect to see any one here," replied the bride.

"No, madam; I came in very privately, and wished an interview, subject to no interruption."

It did not occur to the bride to inquire by whom she had been introduced, or by what means she had gained access to the apartment.

"It's very strange, ma'am, and I can't imagine why you wish to speak to me."

"The reason is simple. The man you have just married has imposed upon you, I am his wife."

"Oh, impossible——you rave!" and the lady sank into a chair almost fainting.

Of course the bridesmaids screamed. Such a succession of shrieks one has rarely heard. It speedily brought the family to the door with terror-stricken faces, and with them the bridegroom, all asking with trembling lips—

"What in the world is the matter?"

"Oh! Edward," cried the bride, "this person says she is your wife."

"My wife!" shouted the astonished husband; "why she's insane."

The strange lady stood up calm and unruffled.

"Is it possible, sir, that having perpetrated this great wickedness, you will have the hardihood to deny that I am your lawfully wedded wife?" she asked, looking the sorely troubled Edward full in the eye.

"Why, confound you, woman, I never saw you before in my life!" exclaimed the astonished man.

The lady regarded him very much as a minister would a person given over to total depravity.

"Oh, Edward, I'm afraid it's true! and I loved you so!" sobbed the young wife, "how could you have treated me so."

"I tell you I haven't got any wife but you; this woman is an imposter."

The strange lady uttered a low, mocking laugh.

The scene was getting interesting to the last degree. The ladies were all crying, and the father of the bride looking stern and indignant. He had been for some time intently regarding the strange lady, when suddenly his eye lighted up, and an amused smile played on his lips. He took a step forward and laying his hand on the shoulder of the stranger, said:

"Come, John, this is very cleverly played, but it's time it was over." and following the impulse of his arm, the stranger was pushed into the hall.

"John——who——what!" all exclaimed at once.

It was the bride's younger brother; a wicked boy, who had played a naughty prank, with the aid of his sister's traveling suit and her cast off chignon and curls.

It is scarcely necessary to remark that harmony was speedily restored.

☞ Why are young ladies at the breaking up of a party like arrows?—Because they can't go off without a beau and are in a quiver until they can get one.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, and restoring it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whiten ing and purifying the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.

McGUIRE'S

WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of a white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath, should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and more complete without them.
